Listing Of Claims

What is claim is:

22. (previously amended) A clamping mechanism for clamping an object, said clamping mechanism comprising:
 - a housing;
 - a rod attached to said housing;
 - a clamping arm rotatably mounted on the rod, said clamping arm being rotatable through 360° about an axis of rotation;
 - a non-releasable one way rotary clutch positioned between and operatively engaging said rod and said clamping arm to permit the clamping arm to freely rotate in only one direction about the axis of rotation; and
 - the clamping arm having a centre of mass spaced apart from the axis of rotation.

23. (previously added) A clamping mechanism according to Claim 22 wherein the clamping mechanism further comprises a support member attached to said housing.

24. (previously added) A clamping mechanism according to Claim 23 wherein the support member comprises a slide element, the slide element being slidably mounted on the housing, wherein the clamping arm is rotatably mounted on the slide element so that the sliding movement of the slide element and clamping arm guides the object held between the support member and the clamping arm.
